

My name is Jessica Walsh, a new 1st grade teacher at Waverly. When growing up in Eastchester I always knew I wanted to become a teacher. I graduated from Pace University in Education and then went on to grad school at CUNY Lehman College. While working on my masters I became a special education paraprofessional at Old Greenwich Preschool. After I earned my master's degree in Early Childhood Education and a certification in Special Education, I worked 2 years as a SEIT in the Bronx. In 2012 I became a special education teacher at PS 120Q in Flushing, Queens, teaching both Kindergarten and 1st grade. I truly love early childhood education and believe it is such an integral part of our student's early years. In my free time I enjoy going to concerts, watching the New York Giants and Yankees, going to the beach, traveling, and spending time with my family and friends. I am so excited to be a part of Waverly and give back to the community that made me who I am today!
